

780 jobs to be eliminated at steel plant

By SUSANNE INDELICATO

Granite City Steel plans to reduce its workforce by 20 percent by 1988. That was learned from several labor leaders who met with GC-Steel officials Tuesday. At the meeting, the leaders said, the officials told of plans to eliminate 780 jobs through attrition by 1988.

"THE DETAILS are sketchy," said Jim Kelahan, a staff representative of the United Steelworkers of America in Granite City.

National Steel (owner of Granite City Steel) has assessed itself and the steel industry, and decided to streamline operations between now and 1988. They're going to try to do it through attrition.

The objective, he said, is to raise production while reducing costs.

THE ANNOUNCEMENT indicated National will try to reduce the 12,500 management and labor jobs at all three of its steel plants (Granite City and the Detroit and Chicago areas) to 10,000 by the end of 1988.

Kelahan and a representative of Steelworkers Local 67 told the Press-Record that a committee or task force will be formed to identify and recommend which jobs may be eliminated through attrition.

National Steel officials hope the rate of retirements will keep up with the streamlining goal, it was related.

NATIONAL STEEL spokesmen in Pittsburgh, Pa., could not be reached for comment. The company is jointly owned by National Intergrated Inc. (NII) of Pittsburgh and Nippon Kokan K.K. of Japan.

Dan Hines, public relations director at Granite City Steel, said he had no comment on the plan at this time but promised a statement later.

A cost squeeze has plagued domestic steelmakers for several years, prompting several of them to diversify into other fields and one of them, Wheeling-Pittsburgh, to file for bankruptcy.

CONCERN ALSO has been voiced that foreign steel producers are garnering an ever-increasing share of the U.S. market for steel.

At NII's annual meeting June 3,

NII defeated Leucadia National Corp. in a proxy contest for the second time this year. Four seats on the 13-member board went to management-backed candidates.

Pres. Howard M. Love, a former Granite City Steel president, said the majority decision was "very clear-cut."

In March, Leucadia fought a proposed NII merger with Bergen Brunswig Corp. Shareholders approved the merger but it later was abandoned by Bergen, which cited deteriorating steel profits.

LEUCADIA OWNS 9 percent of the 20 million shares of NII common stock. Its campaign for four board positions was linked to a Leucadia plan to force NII to sell its 81 percent interest in First Nationwide Financial Corp.

FNFC has assets of $9.4 billion. Leucadia also wanted NII shareholders paid $9 in cash and securities for each share of stock as a way of distributing proceeds of last year's $322 million sale of half of National Steel to Nippon Kokan.

Nolan resigns from park post

By DAVE WHALEY

Staff writer

Dave Nolan resigned as director of parks and recreation of the Granite City Park District Wednesday night.

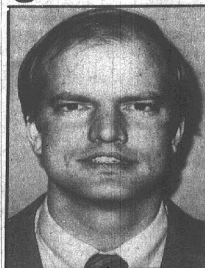

Nolan, 33, is taking an engineering position at Washington University in St. Louis, and his resignation will take effect June 21.

NOLAN HAS OFFERED to act as interim director until the board can name a new director. He said he would be willing to work evenings and weekends.

"I would still probably put in 40 hours a week with the district and have worked out arrangements with my new supervisor to be able to talk with the park office staff for messages and problems, if necessary," Nolan said.

Board members voted unanimously to accept Nolan's resignation.

"We accept it regretfully," Board President George Sykes told Nolan. "But we certainly wish you well in the future."

DAVE NOLAN

"I KNOW IT'S not the best time to leave," Nolan said. "The 4th of July is coming up and there are a lot of programs getting started. But I know I will be able to be called back at a moment's notice."

Nolan said one of the main tasks after the 4th of July park festival will be working out contracts for use of the ice rink for next winter.

"That's something I don't think anyone else has done before," he said. "So I would like to be involved in that."

NOLAN SAID he was open to working at the same salary as he has been getting, on an hourly basis. His yearly salary of $21,166 works out to around $11.10 an hour.

"I think we should do it that way," said Commissioner Barry Loman. "If he works 30 or 40 or 50 hours in a week, he should be paid for 30 or 40 or 50 hours."

Nolan was named to succeed Harold Brown as director of parks and recreation in January 1982. He was previously a park district com-

Man, 94, beaten, robbed

An elderly Venice resident was hurt when struck by a money-seeking man who invaded his home at 3:30 a.m. Tuesday. An investigation of the robbery is continuing.

The Rev. Daris Johnson, 94, of 1021 Douglas St. told police he was in bed when an unknown man "jumped on me and demanded money."

AFTER REPLYING he didn't have any money, Rev. Johnson was grabbed by the intruder, who struck him on the left side of the head with what appeared to be a gun.

The attacker also threatened to "blow your head off" before running through another bedroom, into the main part of the house and then outside.

REV. JOHNSON was taken by a police officer to St. Elizabeth Medical Center for treatment of abrasions to the head, above the left eye. He was later released from SEMC.

A total of $700 and some personal papers were found to be missing from the pocket of a coat which was hanging in a clothes locker at the Johnson home, authorities said.

ENTRY INTO the dwelling was made by kicking or hitting a door knob with a heavy blow, the investigation showed.

The impact splintered the door frame and knocked the door knob completely off, it was noted.

The minister's wife, Mrs. Lela Johnson, 88, was asleep in another room and was not confronted by the assailant.

Venice foot patrol answers citizens' concerns

By VALERIE EVENDEN

Staff writer

An almost extinct kind of police officer, a foot patrolman, will be visible in Venice next week. The first beat patrolman to take to the sidewalk in years will go on duty.

Venice Mayor Tyrone Echols announced the hiring of a part-time police officer at Tuesday night's meeting of the Venice City Council.

THE NEW OFFICER is Algie Crawford III, 27, a Venice resident and son of retired Venice Police Sergeant Algie Crawford Jr., Police Chief Farris Smith said after the meeting.

"He'll be on foot quite a bit of the time," the mayor said in describing the duties of the new part-time officer.

CRAWFORD WILL WORK evenings and nights, primarily on weekends, in specific areas which have been the source of concern to some of the aldermen, including certain blocks on Weaver Street, Echols said.

Curfew violators also will be a responsibility of the new officer, it was noted.

This week, Crawford is attending a three-day mandatory firearms training course at Menard Penitentiary, Chester, and will also receive additional training prior to assuming his duties June 17.

"WE ARE GOING to try this out and see if it helps," Chief Smith said Wednesday while explaining the role of the new officer.

In recent council sessions, some aldermen and several citizens voiced concern about activities on Weaver and elsewhere in the community.

They cited gambling and drinking becoming obvious on the thoroughfare. Despite frequent police patrols, this type of incident is still evident, it was asserted.

MISGIVINGS were expressed that such activities may increase during the summer months. It is in answer to these concerns the officer has been hired, the mayor said.

Comments were heard at Tuesday's meeting relating to youngsters playing in the streets, rather than on park property or in more secure areas.

"I THINK WE'VE got a lot of places to play, if parents will take them to where they can play, instead of sitting and watching 'Over the World' or something," 3rd Ward

Alderman John Ervin commented.

His remarks were in response to a report made by Dorothy Griggs, a leader in the Neighborhood Watch program.

She relayed a series of questions to council members that were posed by residents, mostly senior citizens, at the group's June 8 meeting when juvenile gang activities were discussed by an officer from the sheriff's department.

STRICTER ENFORCEMENT of the curfew ordinance and improvement of vacant lots, by blacktopping them to make run-in playgrounds, were among the proposals, the Watch leader said.

"If Lovejoy has strict curfew enforcement and fines the parents, why not Venice?" she asked.

"We hear this constantly and we would have to have a patrolman in every block," the mayor said.

"WE HAVE TALKED with the housing authority (Madison County) people about having a program in conjunction with the park district, and their entire budget for recreation is $5,000. That's for the whole county and blacktopping property is quite costly," the mayor said.

"This area of responsibility is the park district's. They are a taxing board just like us and we can ill-afford to pay for something like that. The money just isn't here."

"I SUGGEST THE PEOPLE asking you these questions come to this meeting and talk to us," the mayor told Griggs.

"They don't have to be put on an agenda. They can speak anytime," he added.

The local youngsters also should be encouraged to go to the park, where it is set up for them to play (basketball), Echols added.

A WOMAN in the audience countered, "If you are not 6-feet-2 and weigh 265 pounds, there's no use going to the park."

"I don't want mine (children) down there unescorted right now, not until things get better. I don't know where the fault lies and I'm not saying those responsible are from Venice, but they are there," she said.

"If people are afraid to go places (such as Lee Park) then that's what we have to straighten out," Ervin said.

The mayor said he will continue to look into the problem.

Monies available to reduce asbestos in Venice schools

By VALERIE EVENDEN

Staff writer

Venice Superintendent of Schools Robert N. Vickers expressed delight Friday upon learning the Venice School District is among 341 recipients nationwide which will receive grants and interest-free loans to help reduce asbestos hazards.

"I had a good feeling about our application," the superintendent said.

THE VENICE DISTRICT will receive a $76,375 grant and an interest-free loan of equal value for a total of $152,750 to help eliminate asbestos in the Venice Elementary School.

Vickers' optimism was based to some degree on a visit to the district by an investigator from the Environmental Protection Agency's Chicago office about two weeks ago.

THE EPA was making a final check on Venice's application for funds and the official toured the school's 1954 addition, where asbestos has been found.

"He commented that he thought the cost was reasonable," Vickers said recently.

In its application, the district sought $162,000 to reduce asbestos hazards in the building.

U.S. EPA OFFICIALS announced Thursday the Venice school is one of three Illinois schools that will share in $45 million worth of grants and interest-free loans being distributed nationwide.

The largest assistance grant in Illinois, amounting to nearly $1 million, went to the William Fremd High School in the Chicago suburb of Palatine. The EPA awarded the Palatine school.

Overwhelming support given for sale of former high school

By RACHEL NEWSOME

Whether to sell a local high school for community college use may be decided at 8:30 tonight.

Optimism that the proposal will be approved prevailed Monday night at a public hearing on sale of the Granite City High School North building to Belleville Area College.

The 12-year-old school at Maryville and Nameoki roads has been leased to BAC for the past two years.

AFTER THE HEARING, the Granite City School Board scheduled a special meeting for tonight to make a decision on the proposal.

"It will be decided one way or the other at that meeting," Superintendent of Schools Frank Kraus predicted.

BAC utilizes the property as the Granite City Center, an extension of its main campus. Campus status for GC within the BAC system has been voted by the Illinois Community College Board and is being considered by the Illinois Board of Higher Education.

ABOUT 60 RESIDENTS were in attendance, with almost half of those expressing their opinions on the sale. Positive responses included those from Granite City Mayor Von Dee Cruise and 3rd Ward Alderman Paul Fisk.

"The overall consensus that I saw included industrial leaders, city leaders and residents, a cross-section of the community with a well-rounded opinion showing us their concern," School Board President Kelly Hogan remarked.

Support for the proposed sale was heard from State Sen. Sam Vadalabene, D-Edwardsville, and State Rep. Sam Wolf, D-Granite City, each by letter; William Swanson, vice president and general manager of Granite City Steel; and spokesmen from St. Elizabeth Medical Center and the Tri-Cities Area Chamber of Commerce.

THOSE EXPRESSING opinions all said the sale would bring tangible or intangible benefits to the community and the school district.

BAC has given the district two offers to consider.

The first proposal would not the district $500,000 cash immediately, $350,000 in tuition waivers over the next 12 years, $250,000 in in-kind services for Granite City High School students, and space for an auto mechanics shop for five years.

THE SECOND PROPOSAL is for $500,000 cash immediately, $50,000 cash in each of the next 10 years, and space for the auto shop for the next five years.

In both cases, 30 of the 68 acres of land at GCNS North would be kept by the school district.

Board Member Dewey Melton said he feels the property is worth about $2.2 million and he believes this is what the district should receive from BAC.

MELTON LATER added he is not opposed to selling the property, but thinks the district could get more for it. He also said the sale is a choice for the community and, therefore, it should be put to a vote of the people in the November 1985 election.

Remaining board members spoke in favor of an immediate sale.

"BAC is the only prospective buyer of the building and they have a specific use for the building facility one that is an asset to our community," Hogan said.

"THIS SALE may entice other businesses to come into our community."

"BAC can work with them, train their employees, and they can work with our district. Therefore, we may get the money we want in an indirect way," Hogan said.

"I think we have the responsibility to help the students continue their education after 12 years. If we have money, we can do this."

State defends its business climate

How attractive is Illinois to employers? Gov. James R. Thompson said during the weekend that a negative, newly-issued 1984 Alexander Grant Co. study "continues to lack vital information in its analysis of the nation's manufacturing business climate."

"I was optimistic when the study, after years of omission, finally saw fit to mention that 'quality of life' is a major factor in industrial site location decisions. However, when I turned to the statistical data, disappointment set in again. 'Quality of life' has been excluded from the actual state rankings," Thompson said.

"I happen to believe that 'quality of life' can be well defined. What about a health care system that provides accessible, top-quality care to Illinois citizens through the 258 licensed hospitals in Illinois, 871 licensed nursing homes, more than 21,000 physicians and surgeons and 7,096 dentists in the state?"

"What about Illinois' education system which includes 757 high schools, 51 community colleges, 32 area vocational centers and 179 public and private institutions of higher education?"

"Or the more than 100 state parks and conservation areas, the 31 museums in the city of Chicago alone and the 43,000 shoreline acres of recreational land?"

"Obviously, others think it can be defined, as well. Rand McNally published the 'Places Rated Almanac' which rates American cities on their climate, housing, health care, crime, transportation, education, arts, recreation and economy."

"In the overall ranking, Chicago was 26th among the 329 cities assessed and two Illinois cities, Springfield and Champaign, were in the top 20 in the best small metropolitan area category."

Thompson said the transportation needs of a company also must be met before an industrial site decision is made.

"Once again, like every other year, the Grant Study ignores transportation as a key issue."

"In today's world, manufacturing companies are turning to the 'just-in-time' inventory system to reduce costs. When firms want materials at their door within 24 hours to lessen inventory costs, efficient transportation systems are mandatory."

"Illinois is located in the center of the nation with an extensive air, land and water transportation network to help make this new inventory system work," Thompson said.

William T. Yivisker, chief executive officer of Gould, Inc., agreed.

"Many variables not included in the Grant Study are crucial to businesses when making location decisions. These include income levels, health care, educational facilities, transportation and communication network, availability of water and electricity, etc.," Yivisker said.

Thompson said other surveys indicate Illinois is a desirable place to do business. He said Arthur Anderson recently conducted a tax survey of nine states vying for the General Motors' Saturn facility. Illinois ranked the lowest in projection of state taxes to the company.

Results were based on industry estimates of a GM investment in land, building and equipment and taxable income of $612 million. The study did not take into account various tax concession offers made to GM by the states. The comparison was based on each state's permanent tax climate, not short-term adjustments.

"In Illinois, Saturn's tax bill would be $37 million. Compare that to $114 million in Texas, located in the heart of the Sun Belt, and tell me that this state isn't competitive," the governor said.

Business Week recently polled 1,000 board chairmen, presidents, vice-presidents, owners and partners to see which state they would most likely consider for a new plant site. Illinois ranked ninth among the 50 states in the survey that examined marketing, labor, transportation, sources of supply, climate, state assistance, quality of life and site costs.

In two magazine's fourth annual Report on the States, Illinois was 15th in having a climate conducive to the growth and stability of small businesses. The report was based on five major factors: capital resources, labor, taxes, state support and business activity.

"In fact, Illinois ranked ninth in the state support category, which demonstrates our willingness to cooperate and produce a healthy environment for business. But our efforts do not stop with the small business community. We are continuing to improve Illinois' economy for all businesses — large, medium and small," said Department of Commerce and Community Affairs Michael T. Woelfler.

Woelfler said some people outside state government also look at the Alexander Grant study with a jaundiced eye. Larry Larson, chief executive officer of Reson Optical in Chicago, said, "The real danger of business climate studies such as that done by the Alexander Grant Co. is that businesses may be misled by the results and overlook the best location. This has tragic results for the business, the locale overlooked and the long-term growth of the U.S. economy."

William F. Farley, chief executive officer of Farley Industries, said, "I personally have always had tremendous faith in the economic strength of the Midwest, and Illinois in particular. That is one of the reasons why my business is headquartered here and why I continue to reinvest in companies based in the industrial heartland."

FIRE SET IN 2 UNITS OF APARTMENT BUILDING
Several small fires were set in separate units of an apartment building at 2127 Lincoln Ave. on June 10, authorities were told.
Firefighters responding found two pieces of wood which smelled of kerosene in one of the apartments. Two small fires were set in another unit, which also smelled of kerosene. An investigation is being conducted.

SIBLING CLASS. Diane Hudson (center), a registered nurse and pre-natal consultant, assists youngsters as they take turns diapering a doll during an Expectant Sibling Class session.

Sessions here for young siblings

The arrival of a new baby is being described as an important event — especially the other siblings. To help them understand and welcome the arrival of their newest family member, 11 children attended an Expectant Sibling Class sponsored by St. Elizabeth Medical Center in Granite City.

The class, which was developed by Laura Bernini, registered nurse and clinical instructor, and Diane Hudson, registered nurse and pre-natal consultant, included a tour of the Obstetrics Department; demonstrations and practice sessions on holding, diapering and feeding an infant; a storytime period; and discussions on expectations and feelings about a new baby.

The children also got a chance to dress-up in scrub shirts and to make a "welcome card" for the baby. At the end of the class, they were presented certificates of completion.

The class, which is held every six weeks free of charge, is open to children two years of age or older, whose mothers are at least six months pregnant. A parent must accompany the child and be involved in some class activities.

 The next class will be held on Saturday, June 29, from 10 a.m. to noon in the Obstetric Floor classroom. For more information, families may call the SEMC Obstetrics Department at 798-3040.

Other classes are set for Aug. 17, Sept. 28 and Nov. 25.
 Registration is required. There is no fee for the class.

Venice city sticker crackdown

By VALERIE EVENDEN
 Staff writer

Venice police officers will be issuing citations to residents who do not display a city sticker on the windshields of vehicles starting Monday, June 17. It was announced this week by Venice Police Chief Farris Smith.

City vehicular stickers costing $5 each presently are on sale at the office of City Comptroller Roseann Koelker in the Venice City Hall.

THOSE RECEIVING citations will have to appear in court and are liable for a $35 fine, the police chief said. Vehicle owners taken into police headquarters will be required to post $52 cash bail prior to being released from custody, he noted.

City stickers sales are running about the same as a year ago, the comptroller said. A total of 1,057 stickers had been sold through Tuesday.

The city decals may be obtained Monday through Friday between the hours of 8:30 a.m. and 4 p.m.

IN A REPORT to the aldermen at Tuesday night's meeting of the Venice City Council, Chief Smith said a check for $4,217 was received by the city from Circuit Court Clerk Willard Portell. The amount represents fines collected through the Venice department's efforts in May.

During the same month, 117 charges were filed against 99 adults and five juveniles, including 51 city traffic violations and 12 state traffic violations.

Twelve city ordinance violations and 18 state ordinance violations were tallied, the report said. Nine warrants were served and two persons were arrested for other department violations.

FINED $50 FOR CONDUCT
 Timothy Callender, 25, of 2337 Terminal Ave. was arrested June 11 for disorderly conduct outside the apartment of Barbara Booker, 2511 Grand Ave. Police alleged he was prying on a door with a mop handle. He was fined $50.

 A radar detection device valued at $168 was stolen from the auto of Paul Manning, 1701 Minerva St., while the vehicle was parked outside 3655 Nameoki Road, he reported June 7.

ments. Two felony arrests also were made.

"I WILL CHECK with the police and residents and let you know," Venice Mayor Tyrone Echols said, answering a request from a motorcycle club wanting to hold a "cookout" on the Venice riverfront.

George E. Spearman Sr., president, and Glen Crook, vice president, representing the Black Eagles Motorcycle Club of Madison, attended the council session and presented the written request.

The letter said previous ventures proved successful and the group had complied with rules and regulations. The cookout would extend for a three-day weekend period July 19-21.

OUR GOAL is to generate enough revenue to support the summer youth jobs program in our area. We want to help by donating supplies to the work crews and sponsoring an end of summer celebration for all children," the letter stated.

The club members said they would encourage policing of activities during the weekend event and want to make a positive mark on the community.

"We will enforce this upon our guests," they said.

Sale of school would help all

A bird must leave its parents' nest. Children must grow to adulthood. Granite City High School North needs to "graduate" to the status of a college campus.

The District 9 Board of Education will decide tonight whether to sell the high school to Belleville Area College. We strongly encourage a favorable vote.

Regardless of the exact price decided on (likely to be, in excess of $1 million), it would not be a giveaway. BAC also is a local taxing body, "owned" by taxpayers, although its geographic boundaries admittedly are much larger.

More than $6 million can be obtained for much-needed renovation of the school, which was opened in 1973 to serve 9th through 12th graders. After a decade, the two Granite City high schools again became one, but GCIS North never had an idle day. The Granite City Center of BAC was established here in 1983 through a two-year lease. A quirk of our state laws permits Illinois to provide building repair funds to college districts but not to school systems. Aside from this important factor, which assures that GCIS will be kept in tip-top shape, it is vital that BAC continue its progressive programs here.

BAC, thanks to such leaders as Board Chairman Avery Schermer, President Bruce Wissore and many others, has done a fine job of launching two-year (freshman and sophomore) college instruction in this community. GCIS also is attended by many who reside east and southeast of here.

Once it has full title to the spacious, air-conditioned, ultra-modern structure, we are confident BAC will greatly expand its already diverse services. This will help thousands of local young people keep pace with the high-technology era in which we live.

EOC diverted funds from poor

The demise of the Madison County Economic Opportunity Commission remains a sad reminder, but the group's fatal flaws are becoming more and more apparent as time passes.

An audit just released by the U.S. attorney says some employees improperly used government funds for personal enrichment, including home rehabilitation, travel costs, auto repairs, interest-free loans and outright embezzlement.

Losses of public funds to specified individuals are estimated at $51,505, with $19,472 of that repaid in recent months. In addition, the audit cites waste and abuse of certain other funds. And it notes missing cash and inventory which could not be traced because of inadequate or false records.

The study was made by the Office of the Inspector General of the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services in cooperation with U.S. District Attorney Frederick Hess.

There are no plans to prosecute. Instead, emphasis is to be placed on civil lawsuits for restitution.

Former staff members targeted by the report deserve their day in court. They have not been charged or convicted. Some of them challenge the amounts owed, it should be noted, and others have filed countersuits for unpaid wages and vacation pay.

Despite the absence of prosecution, which has not been fully explained, it is valuable to citizens to gain insight into what happened, why and how. The non-governmental body seemed mighty adept at gaining contracts to spend state and U.S. government money (often more than $3 million a year) but was largely ineffective in upgrading the general public's economic welfare and opportunities.

The non-profit anti-poverty agency ultimately encountered its own burden of poverty in late 1983 and was forced into bankruptcy.

Undoubtedly it did considerable good over the years. But a question that remains is how much more could have been accomplished, if the commission had operated more efficiently and given more attention to required and recommended procedural rules.

Among the lessons which can be derived from the MCEOC story is this: Even when there are the best of intentions, an agency utilizing massive chunks of taxpayers' money needs more timely, perceptive monitoring.

Cruse clarifies his statement on Community Development funds

In a statement released Monday, Granite City Mayor Von Dee Cruse stated he was surprised to see a direct quotation attributed to him in the Sunday edition of the Press-Record/Journal.

The statement apparently has caused consternation to the family of Joe Parente, coordinator of Community Development for Madison County.

In the statement, Cruse was quoted as saying, "He's cruse" in referring to Parente's explanation of events.

"If I used that phrase in my discussion with the reporter, it would have been only to emphasize that I thought Joe's version of events did not agree with the facts as I knew them," Cruse said. "My disagreement with Joe in this incident does not diminish my respect for him personally and professionally, and I am sorry if the article in the newspaper has caused him or his family any discomfort at all. I hope that he will accept this as a personal apology."

Fair can be costly to Illinois taxpayers

To the Editor: John Kramer's "dog and pony show" in Illinois cities and towns the last several months should be seen for what it is. Mr. Kramer, who is the general manager of the Chicago World's Fair Authority, is attempting to sell the taxpayers of Illinois a shoddy bill of goods.

In the past year, Kramer has traveled across the state asking taxpayers to help finance the cost of the proposed 1992 World's Fair. What he has not said is that the fair involves a tremendous financial risk.

Only three years ago, organizers estimated that the fair would cost $600 million. By early 1985, this estimate had skyrocketed to $857 million before plans were scaled back. Future cost overruns are a virtual certainty.

During this same period, attendance projections have plummeted. Organizers originally projected that 59.4 million people would attend the fair, a record. Independent study estimates that attendance only will equal 45 million.

If the fair loses money, it will be the taxpayers who will be left holding the bag.

It is no secret that recent fairs have been financial nightmares. Organizers of the New Orleans Fair, for example, believed their fair would generate a substantial profit. When the gates finally closed, however, the fair showed a $140 million deficit.

Because of these financial risks, the Coalition for Political Honesty is petitioning various counties and municipalities across Illinois to place a referendum on the March 1986 primary ballot asking whether Illinois tax dollars should be used to finance or guarantee bonds of the proposed World's Fair.

The purpose of this referendum is to win passage of a strict state law which would protect taxpayers from any financial or bonding liability for the proposed fair in the event of failure.

A similar referendum campaign was held in Los Angeles in 1978 and resulted in a city ordinance which required the 1984 Olympics to be financed entirely with private money at no risk to the taxpayers.

If the Chicago World's Fair makes any economic sense, then John Kramer should be able to sell it to private investors. If he is unable to do so, then Illinois taxpayers should be asked to finance what may become the biggest boondoggle in state history.

Anyone interested in passing out petitions for a referendum on the World's Fair should contact me at P.O. Box 428, Oak Park, Ill. 60303. PAT QUINN, Oak Park

Dinner for crash victim was inspirational

To the Editor: On June 1 I attended a benefit dinner-dance for Ronnie Mushill at Augustine's Restaurant and experienced an evening I shall never forget. I would like to share it with readers.

Ronnie was paralyzed from the chest down in an auto accident last September, and to help Ronnie with some of his financial needs, family and friends worked very hard to have a benefit dinner-dance for him. But the thought in everyone's mind was, "Will it be a success? Will Ronnie be able to face all these people for the first time — will he be able to force himself to come?"

Well, Ronnie did come, and all the planning and hard work were not in vain because the large banquet room was crowded with well-wishers, and it felt good to be there because you knew you were helping someone who really needed help. It was nice to know that Mike Shannon, Pete Rose and Fredbird took time out from their busy schedule to come for awhile and sign autographs, answer questions, clown around and make people smile. It was nice to know that people cared and sold tickets and bought tickets, and that the evening was a success because of their help.

But the most heartwarming and unforgettable time for me was when Ronnie approached the microphone to thank everyone, and a hush fell over the crowd, which began to stifle you could hear a pin drop. Ronnie spoke in a soft voice of his time in the hospital and of people who were paralyzed just like himself, and how grateful he was to still have his mind, while others were not as fortunate.

He thanked his family, especially his parents, and you had a lump in your throat and tears in your eyes, and felt a tremendous outpouring of love and respect for that young man. His impact on the young people was very apparent and they expressed words of admiration for his courage.

Yes, I shall always remember the evening of June 1 at Augustine's, but most of all I shall remember the handsome young man "fighting back" to conquer a most devastating adversity in his life. Ronnie, you are an inspiration!

Fly American flag on Flag Day tomorrow

To the Editor: Flag Day is June 14. The same citizens who flew "old glory" in the past or who own an American flag no doubt will display it again to show their colors and to honor our national emblem.

On the contrary, there will not be many flags lining Madison Avenue or the streetlight poles, due to the fact that there are only 12 flags left that the firemen of our city will be able to display.

Of the close to 100 flags that decorated the avenue in past years, many have been lost to storms and vandalism, sad to say.

Our local firemen do a fine job in placing the flags. To bring up the number, they plan on perhaps doing a car wash and solicit donations to this fine patriotic effort.

We would all like to see the avenue again in a blaze of red, white and blue. In case any of the flags fall to the ground from high winds, etc.

they should be taken to the main fire station. In recent years, the Amvets, American Legion and VFW did the honors of placing the flags on the avenue.

It would also be a beautiful scene to see the 12 light standards on our new (19th Street) overpasses also flying the American flag, which was down due to theft and vandalism of the line. A survey was made in Granite City by a Venice resident who wrote me anonymously and stated no flags were up on Memorial Day at the post office in Madison or at some banks and schools.

This shows interest and concern, but all these facilities do have flags. Why some were not on display on Memorial Day I cannot answer. Here's looking forward to Madison Avenue and the overpasses for the great display of Americana for the 21st century. Keep 'em flying.

Priceless benefits from GC college sale

To the Editor: Monday night I attended the open forum given by the Board of Education, District 9, addressing the issue of the sale of Granite City High School North to the Belleville Area College system. During that session the board addressed questions and listened to opinions of various business and civic leaders as well as private citizens.

A general consensus was reached that the establishment of a permanently-based branch of Belleville Area College is vital to future growth of our community. Our society is in the midst of a major economic revolution. Just as we experienced a major shift from an agricultural-based economy to an industrial-based economy at the turn of the century, we are now changing from an industrial economy to one based on technology.

The driving force of our technological base is fueled by our educational systems. Without adequate higher education facilities available in our area, growth opportunities will be severely limited. A permanently-based higher education system such as a Granite City campus could be the answer to many of this area's economic woes. Still, a problem exists.

Several members of the District 9 Board of Education are reluctant to accept the offers proposed by the Belleville Area College system. One such offer is:

1) District 9 receives $500,000 in cash immediately upon acceptance of BAC's proposal.

2) BAC will grant $350,000 in tuition waivers over the next 12 years in the form of purely academic scholarships for graduating seniors from Granite City High School. This can account for up to 30 academic scholarships per year to Granite City students.

3) BAC will also grant $250,000 in tuition waivers for high school students for accelerated or other special programs over a 12-year period.

4) BAC will allow the use of the existing auto shop facility for 5 years after the sale to BAC.

5) It will allow District 9 to retain 30 acres of the 65-acre plot after the transaction. To me, this is an ideal proposal. This allows the district to pay off some of its existing debts and guarantees active participation by students in the form of valuable academic scholarships.

More importantly, this community will have a chance to compete in our changing economy by having a higher educational system to offer future businesses.

I urge the District 9 Board of Education to think of the long-term gains of our community as a whole, instead of what appears to be a short-term loss on paper, and accept the offer from the Belleville Area College system by the June 15 deadline. Feel the benefits will prove "priceless."

Census Bureau to seek data in area

The Census Bureau will visit area residents June 17 through 22 to collect data on unemployment, family formation, marital history and birth expectations, according to Marvin L. Postma, director of the Census Bureau's Kansas City regional office.

The marital history and fertility data are being gathered for the National Institute of Child Health and Human Development, U.S. Department of Health and Human Services. The data will help analysts formulate policies on activities such as child care and aid to families with dependent children.

The unemployment data will contribute to June's national picture, to be released July 5 by the Bureau of Labor Statistics. Data gathered in May became available June 7.

Information supplied by individuals is kept confidential by law. Only statistical totals are published.

Power station cost study; completion nears will be recovered in future months, but rather that monthly expenditures will continue to exceed monthly estimates.

"The company has not made an estimate of the amount by which expenditures will exceed estimates and it has no plans to revise the present formal cost estimate due to the relatively short period of time remaining before fuel load. Expenditures as compared to estimated expenditures in the future will be discussed in quarterly reports to the company's shareholders and the Securities and Exchange Commission.

"The major factors causing (IP) to exceed budgeted construction expenditures are increases in the scope of work related to both the completion of final design of the power station and additional efforts required to meet regulatory requirements."

"There is close federal regulation of the timing and scope of nuclear plant construction work. In past statements, the utility has noted that delays, design changes and interest costs greatly increased original cost projections.

An assessment of the estimated cost and schedule for completing the Clinton nuclear electric power plant has been issued by Illinois Power Co. The date for loading fuel and the formal cost estimate remain unchanged, although recent monthly expenditures are exceeding the estimated cost.

A spokesman said, "The company continues to expect to load fuel at the Clinton power station as scheduled in January 1986. However, construction expenditures for the station from October 1984 through May 1985 have exceeded the estimate for that period by $110 million. At March 31, 1985, actual expenditures exceeded estimated expenditures by $50 million. It is not anticipated that these expenditures

Q. A few months ago, I consolidated some certificates of deposit which were being held in my Individual Retirement Account. I was aware that there would be an early withdrawal penalty which I paid. Next year, when I file my Federal income tax, is it possible for me to claim this early withdrawal penalty as a deduction.

A. We're afraid not. You are probably aware that normally the interest you forfeit when money is withdrawn from a bank certificate of deposit can be deducted from your federal income taxes, and that may be where the confusion lies. The rules governing Individual Retirement Accounts are quite different, and are really aimed at an incentive for you to maintain the money in an IRA. You lose the ability to use such a deduction when a penalty such as you paid is assessed against money in an Individual Retirement Account. The IRA remains one of the best tax shelters available so long, of course, as you maintain the account untouched through maturity.

Step aside, George Burns, for just a moment. Someone a few years older may have a scoop on the key to longevity. "I think the reason I've lived so long is that I've always kept busy," said 99-year-old James M. Davis of Granite City. "And I've enjoyed it."

But the best is yet to come. Davis eagerly awaits the magical date of Aug. 11. That's when he reaches the century mark.

"I said I was going to be 100 years old. I may not make it, but I'll try," said a determined Davis from his hospital bed at St. Elizabeth Medical Center in Granite City.

So far, he's been fortunate when it comes to his health. "Never been sick much," he said. Davis has only been in the hospital for surgery once before. Just recently, he had a cataract extraction and lens implant performed on his right eye.

Dr. Edward Doisy, the ophthalmologist who performed the less-than-one-hour surgery, said, "It (the surgical process) didn't seem to phase him at all. He's really doing very nicely. He wanted the operation done because he likes to read a lot and has been having difficulty doing it. The operation should really help him."

Davis welcomes that news. Reading, as well as writing, is a real love of his.

"I don't just read a book to be reading it," he said. "I read it to see if it will do me any good." He added that health and exercise books are his favorite type to read.

When he's not reading, he's probably writing. "I can still write good," he said proudly. "I have a Model T to write." One year, President Reagan sent him a card. And when (Pres.) Carter was elected, I wrote him a letter and he answered it."

It seems the position of president is virtually the only job that Davis has never held. Throughout his full and active life, Davis has held a myriad of jobs and hobbies.

First, he helped out on his father's farm in Cave in Rock, Ill., during the late 1800s and early 1900s. Then he became a cartoonist in the 1920s, while at the same time being a painter and artist. Later, he became a hobby shop owner in Granite City.

Heard enough? Well, how about a Teamsters union driver, a bookmobile driver for the Granite City school system, and a Medicare health insurance salesman?

He was either working with his hands or operating a motor vehicle of some kind in the various occupations. "I started driving a Model T in 1927," he said. "I quit driving in 1950."

His last job was with Medicare. "I had the route from Washington Park to the oil fields in Granite," he said. "I went out into the country and signed up some farmers for Medicare."

Davis may have stopped working and driving, but he continues to paint. "People, buildings and water" have been his favorite subjects to draw and paint.

"I painted a picture of a steamboat on the river and one of the Eads Bridge in East St. Louis," he recalled.

Some of his other works of art include a painting of Lincoln and a life-sized one of Jesus. "I like Abraham Lincoln, so I painted his picture. My grandson has that one. It's a great big one," Davis said.

Davis has a good memory when it comes to giving dates and details and telling stories. He's also attentive and amiable.

"I was a cartoonist back in 1923. I was also painting with oil back then. I had my easel set up in a restaurant in Granite City," he noted.

Davis has outlived all of his brothers and sisters. "Nearly all of them died early," he said. Davis has a son, William, who is 59, and a daughter, Margaret Willmizig, 62.

Right now, Davis has plans of living past 100 years old. All he has to do for inspiration is look at the picture he has in his room at home in Granite City.

What is it?

It's a picture of a man who lived to be 150 years old.

3 local locations among stadium sites

By ALAN SCULLEY
Staff writer

National football is still being considered near Granite City, but not in Pontoon Beach.

Pontoon Beach was among sites edged out by Collinsville and other communities contending for a multi-use domed stadium that could house the St. Louis Football Cardinals, according to a study released this week.

THE STUDY identified seven sites, out of 23, as having the potential for the stadium, according to Mary Kane, executive director of the Southwestern Illinois Leadership Council. SWILC conducted the study.

The Pontoon Beach site, and two in East St. Louis, are likely to carry a higher cost for development than the four the council selected, Kane said.

She said the four sites that would be least expensive to develop are:

• In Collinsville, a 281-acre site at the intersection of U.S. Business 40 and the planned Interstate 255.

• In Collinsville, a 381-acre site located near the Hilton Inn by the planned Interstate 55-70-255 interchange.

• In Caseyville, a 637-acre site near the Interstate 64-Illinois 157 junction.

• In Glen Carbon, a 647-acre site along Interstate 270 between Illinois 157 and the proposed I-255.

• The other three sites are:

• In East St. Louis, a 550-acre site referred to as the Gateway site along the Mississippi River.

• In East St. Louis, a 255-acre site referred to as the North Riverfront site, located north of the Martin Luther King Bridge.

• In Pontoon Beach, a 1,497-acre site, located at the intersection of Illinois 111 and I-255.

Collinsville Mayor Gene Brombolich said he was encouraged that the city had been considered for the project.

A METRO EAST stadium has only a slim chance of becoming a reality, the mayor said, noting he doubts Missouri officials would allow the Football Cardinals to leave that state.

Kane said the leadership council used a "fairly extensive" set of criteria based on information provided by firms that had worked on the construction of other major sports stadiums. The criteria was used to select the favored sites.

Development of the two East St. Louis sites would cost more than the four most favorable locations, Kane said, because multiple ownership of the land involved could increase costs of property acquisition and because some existing commercial and industrial businesses would have to be relocated or demolished to make way for a stadium.

THE PONTON BEACH site is likely to involve a higher cost because of drainage and soil problems, Kane said.

As a next step, the leadership council is recommending that a more detailed market analysis and feasibility study be conducted on the sites, Kane said.

Earlier this year, Football Cardinals owner Bill Bidwell said the team would play at Busch Stadium for the 1985 season, but did not say the team would remain thereafter.

Labor to parade here Labor Day

The Tri-City Trades and Labor Council will again sponsor a Labor Day parade. Co-chairmen for this year's event will be Trades Council President Edwin Reiske and United Steelworkers of America Local 4804 President David J. Kins.

The co-chairmen said the parade route will be the same as last year, starting at Edison and Niedringhaus avenues, to enable participating groups to utilize nearby parking lots for the assembly.

The parade will then proceed east on Niedringhaus to Madison Avenue and up Madison Avenue to 28th Street, where it will turn left for disassembly in the Wilson Park area.

Luke 6:19 ... "And the whole multitude sought to touch him; for there went virtue out of him, and healed them all."

You can expect Jesus to do good things for you. He desires to meet our every need, in this instance, He was healing sickness and afflictions and the multitude sought to touch Him. And He healed them all.

We know it is His will to heal. Isaiah 53:5 and 1 Peter 2:24 tell us so. We know He did heal by reading the gospel of Matthew, Mark, Luke and John. We know He healed multitudes. And He healed them all.

Now have faith for your healing. See yourself as part of a multitude. Seek to touch Him by reading your Bible and by praying. It is His desire to touch you also.

Let Him do it. Today.

Nameoki officials investigating operation of groundwater well

By SUSANNE INDELICATO

Nameoki Township Trustee Norm Hall told the town board of trustees Monday that "definite progress" is being made in an investigation concerning the operation of a well in the Dobrey Slough.

"I can't go into all of it at this time," Hall said, adding that he hoped to make some announcements concerning the well at a future meeting of the trustees.

HALL TOLD the board he objects to a request that the property on which the well is installed be condemned so the well can be maintained and operated.

"The township board has no intent to condemn property," he said. "We have access to that property as we want to."

On June 5, several residents of the Dobrey Slough area approached the Metro-East Sanitary District board, asking the district to take over the operation of the well and, if necessary, condemn the property to do so.

THE WELL was temporarily installed by the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers between Hemlock and Pine streets last January. During a 48-hour test, the well was able to draw down the underground water level by 700 gallons-per-minute, resulting in a one-foot drop at one monitoring point.

Residents in the area have approached the MESD board and the Granite City council with 456 signatures on petitions asking that the well be maintained. The residents feel the well may be effective in lowering the water table and may lessen the trouble they are having with water in their basements.

Helen Hawkins of 2600 Angela Drive has said the easement rights for the well, which is located on private property, expire July 1.

BUT MESD Executive Director Shang Greathouse said Corps of Engineers officials told him the easement rights expired May 29, and that a 60-day extension was obtained.

If, after 30 days, no one offers to operate the well, the Corps will begin removing it from the property, it was related.

The well was used to pull water in to Dobrey Slough and channel it to a pump station located at the end of the slough near Pontoon Road. That pump station activates when the water level in the slough rises, pulling water into lines leading to the Nameoki Ditch. From there, the water empties into Horseshoe Lake.

CORPS OFFICIALS have told Greathouse that after the first 48 hours, the well will only decrease the water table by two-tenths of a foot. In addition, they said, the well equipment was rented for the test, and a new well could cost approximately $5,000.

Residents requesting that the well be maintained have been told to contact their representatives in Washington, D.C., and request that the Corps retain the well. But Corps officials have said they will not take over the well.

Residents also have been urged to encourage a joint effort by MESD, Granite City and Nameoki Township in operating and maintaining the well.

IN OTHER ACTION Monday, Nameoki Township Collector Steve Isenbarg reported that he had collected and disbursed $294,782 in real estate taxes in the last two weeks.

He reminded property owners that the first installment of 1984 real estate taxes is due by Monday, June 17. Payments may be made at local banks or the town hall.

CAT ATTACKS YOUNG GIRL

Colleen Sheikh of 2552 Westmoreland Drive reported to Madison County authorities that a black cat attacked her 5-year-old daughter as the girl was playing in the yard June 8. Maureen Sheikh told her mother the cat chased her, catching her before she reached the front door of her home and inflicting numerous scratches on the girl's legs. Rabies control officers were notified.

STEREO EQUIPMENT TAKEN

Robert Branch of 206 Hare St. reported June 9 that someone broke into his mobile home and took three pieces of stereo equipment valued at $1,000. Madison County deputies found a screen had been removed and the glass in a window broken, allowing entry to the home.

Food, music and crafts to be featured at Vandalla capitol

A ham and bean dinner, ice cream socials, tomahawk throwing contests, a concert by the local high school band, 10,000-meter foot race, and guided, candlelight tours are on tap for visitors to the 18th annual Grand Levee celebration June 14 to 16 at Vandalla Statehouse State Historic Site, Vandalla.

Activities Friday are scheduled from 5:30 to 9 p.m., Saturday from 8:30 a.m. to 6 p.m., and Sunday from noon to 5 p.m., according to Nan Wynn, site superintendent.

The "Grand Levee" is a recreation of the formal receptions commonly held at the former Illinois State Capitol in the mid-1800s for government dignitaries, important visitors and other VIPs. Co-sponsors include the Historic Sites Division of the Department of Conservation and the Friends of the Old State Capitol. The latter is a Vandalla citizens' organization dedicated to promoting and preserving the historic statehouse, where Abraham Lincoln served his first term in the legislature and was sworn-in as a member of the bar.

Old-fashioned ham and bean dinners will be served from 5:30 to 7:30 Friday night on the statehouse lawn. The ice cream social also starts at 5:30 but continues until 8:30 p.m. Vandalla High School's concert band will perform between 6 and 8:45 p.m. Candlelight tours of the statehouse are slated from 7:30 to 9 p.m.

Saturday's activities open with the Pepsi Challenge 10,000-meter run at 8:30 a.m., followed by the Town and County Art show, 9 a.m. to 6 p.m., tomahawk throwing contest 11 a.m. to 4 p.m., period arts and crafts demonstrations and displays, period music and food concessions from noon to 5 p.m., guided tours of the statehouse at 1:30 and 3 p.m., and the playing of pioneer era games, 2 to 3 p.m.

Period crafts, music, an art show, the tomahawk finals and food booths are the main attractions Sunday, from noon to 5 p.m. An old-fashioned worship service featuring hymns popular in Lincoln's day will be conducted at 4 p.m. by local clergymen. Guided tours of the old capitol and more 19th century games are scheduled between 1:30 and 3 p.m.

THE A.A. YOU

BY RICK REED
Attorney At Law

Recently a man came to this office who was injured on the job. He was a fifty year old laborer who began experiencing sharp pain in his lower back when he lifted a heavy object at work. He was immediately sent to the company doctor, and the injury was diagnosed as a herniated disc. In that the man had never before had a work related injury, he had numerous questions.

His first question was whether he had to continue treating with the company doctor, or whether he could choose his own physician. In this case, he was facing possible surgery, and he had no confidence in the company doctor. Currently the Illinois Workers' Compensation Act provides that if an injured employee chooses his own physician or hospital, the employer must pay the expenses.

His next question was what temporary benefits he was entitled to receive while he was off work. When an employee is injured on the job, he is to get Temporary Total Disability for the time he is incapacitated. This benefit amounts to 66-2/3 percent of the worker's average weekly wage, subject to certain maximum amounts provided by law.

A further question involved what type of notice of the accident had to be provided for the employer and how long the injured employee had to file a worker's compensation claim. The Workers' Compensation Act simply provides that "proper and timely" notice of the accident needs to be given to the employer. No particular method of notice is required, and it may be written or oral. In non-fatal cases, the claim must be filed with the Industrial Commission within three years from the date of the accident or within two years from the date of last payment of compensation, whichever is later.

A final question which arose later in the case was whether he should settle for a lump sum, or whether he should settle for a lump sum and retain the right to lifetime medical care for treatment related to the original injury while a lump sum settlement does not. Secondly, an arbitration award keeps open the employee's right to later request a reassessment of his disability. In this way, the injured employee can secure additional compensation if his disability increases within 30 months.

Pat Barber appointed as assistant YMCA director

The Tri-City Area YMCA is announcing the addition of Richard H. "Pat" Barker to its full-time professional staff. Barker, who received his bachelor degree in physical education from Bemidji State College in Bemidji, Minn., will assume the title of assistant executive director.

Barker's previous experience is extensive. He has been executive director of the YMCAs in Huntington, Ind., and Mattoon, Ill., and the Illinois Valley YMCA in Peru. He has also served as physical director at the Alton "Y" and in Marshalltown, Iowa. He was the assistant physical director in Cedar Rapids, Iowa.

Barker has served as president and secretary-treasurer of the Iowa Physical Director Society and was the Illinois state diving chairman in 1970-71. He has been a member of the Association of Professional YMCA Directors from 1963 to the present and has been active with the YMCA since he was six years old.

Among Barker's new responsibilities will be supervision and management of the Branch YMCA in Troy. He is experienced in building YMCA participation, such as at Mattoon, where membership rose from none to 2,300 in two years, and at Alton, Cedar Rapids and Huntington, where participation at each "Y" increased by at least 100 percent.

"Y" program in the rapidly growing area of Troy, a spokesman said.

Barker says he has stayed with "Y" responsibilities because he "enjoys seeing people improve themselves not only physically, but spiritually and mentally as well."

"I like to think I had something to do with a person's growth," he added.

"Pat will be an excellent addition to our staff," commented Executive Director Jerry Swatlow.

SENT TO COUNTY JAIL ON BURGLARY WARRANT

John Nishke, 38, of 1128 St. Thomas Road was arrested June 7 at an apartment in the 4000 block of Galsight Walk, Pontoon Beach, on a felony warrant alleging residential burglary.

Nishke appeared in the Granite City court the same day, entering an innocent plea, and bond was set at $5,000 cash. He was transferred to the Madison County Jail at Edwardsville.

BURGLARY AT KOZYAK'S

An unknown amount of cash was stolen by burglars who broke through the roof to get inside Kozyak's Market, 2600 Nameoki Road, June 7. Officers in the front and rear of the store were ransacked and cabinets and coolers were searched. An inventory of missing items is being compiled.

INCIDENT ON BENTON ST. ENDS IN ARREST OF TWO

Arriving outside 2115 Benton St. June 7 in response to a disturbance call, officers found Larry Lee Dunn, 24, of that address and Almee S. Hedrick, 25, of 423 W. Chain of Rocks Road. Dunn said Hedrick and another woman came there looking for two other people and a woman knocked over his motorcycle, parked outside. The hand brake and a turn signal were damaged, he said. Charged with property damage, for which she posted $500 bail, Hedrick said Dunn had slapped her. He was arrested for battery and was released pending a hearing.

Nameoki, Pontoon Beach form joint development committee

By SUSANNE INDELICATO Staff writer

Nameoki Township and Pontoon Beach village officials have joined together to form a joint committee on economic development.

According to Nameoki Township Trustee Ken Davis, co-chairman of the committee, the purpose is to "research and compile statistical information pertaining to the township and the village as an outstanding area to conduct business."

Other members of the committee are Pontoon Beach Trustee Don Rea, co-chairman, and Nameoki Township Trustee Norman Hall and Pontoon Beach Board President Glen Wilson.

Information compiled by the committee will be presented to county and state officials dealing with economic development, Davis said. At some future date, the committee plans to make direct presentations to industry officials.

Statistical information the committee plans to compile includes the following:

—Site locations: availability and acreage.

—Facilities: water, electricity and gas.

—Transportation: highway, rail and barge systems.

—Incentives: personal property taxes, real estate taxes, foreign trade zones, enterprise zones, and estimates of total combined financial assistance from federal, state, county and local entities.

General information and advantages: educational facilities within 25 miles, skilled labor force and professional labor force.

Although the committee currently consists of township and village officials, Davis said the members hope to add several lay-people to the committee in the future.

Build Illinois, malpractice, bank legislation progressing

By REP. SAM WOLF

"Build Illinois," medical malpractice, the public utilities rewrite and education reform have all undergone substantial scrutiny in each house of the General Assembly. Now, negotiations for the final proposals really begin.

Other major initiatives worth noting are Community Right to Know, missing children legislation, interstate banking and legalization of casinos and dog racing.

Also looming before legislators is the question of raising sufficient revenue, particularly for education and Build Illinois.

THE HOUSE is considering legislation that would remove geographical restrictions on Illinois banks to encourage expansion within other Midwestern states.

An important amendment to the package would require financial institutions buying out local banks to certify a plan to keep money in the community. Thus, Downstate, small businesses, farmers and community residents could be assured of continuing services from their local bank.

With the question of raising revenues comes the proposal to legalize casino gambling and dog racing. Although the bills failed in the House, I feel certain that proposals will not go away. One of the specific concerns of dog racing is the competition, which could have a negative impact on our horse racing industry.

MANDATORY AUTO insurance, one of the session's more controversial issues, passed in the House while efforts to repeal the state's new seatbelt law were unsuccessful. In all probability, the final outcome of either issue will not be decided until the end of the session June 30.

The education reform package has constituted hundreds of hours of deliberation. While funding for education is the keystone in Illinois, it is certain that steps will be taken to insure a more efficient education system.

As it stands now, reform measures include competency testing of teachers and students; steps toward increased consolidation (a very controversial issue Downstate); an increased baseline salary for teachers (the House and Senate disagree on the dollar amount); and increased flexibility for school districts in determining programs which best reflect their local needs.

The latter calls for a different approach to State Board of Education mandates, or at least statutory flexibility in certain academic areas.

THE MEDICAL malpractice issue has been, perhaps, the most emotional issue of the session. On one side are the doctors who claim rising insurance costs and malpractice suits have forced medical costs to balloon. Attorneys who represent malpractice victims are voicing concern over the inability to penalize negligent physicians.

The two "substance" issues at the moment are: a medical community proposal to allow physicians found guilty of malpractice to pay the victim on an "installment plan"; and the attorneys' proposal to prohibit limits on jury awards to victims.

As a side comment, I would note that prevention of malpractice in conjunction with the screening of harassment type suits has not been a part of the discussions. Certainly these two issues are more advantageous to patients in the long run than the heated fight in Springfield among doctors and lawyers.

WILL THERE BE A World's Fair in Illinois? Going out on a limb, I would say the future of the World's Fair looks bleak at this point.

The financial outlook for a profitable fair is "iffy" at best, and nothing has been put forward to show an advantage to the entire state as a return on state dollars spent to subsidize the fair.

In respect to "Build Illinois," the House has endorsed a package which included 247 amendments with a price tag of nearly $4 billion.

I suspect the final version will look more like the governor's original proposal, with increased direction from the General Assembly focusing on infrastructure projects.

I, ALONG WITH Downstate legislators, am working hard to see that our communities' infrastructure problems are fully addressed under "Build Illinois."

Several tax proposals have emerged to help generate sufficient dollars to cover any or all of the state's priorities. For education, the two proposals include a message tax on long-distance phone calls and an 8-cent cigarette tax.

Nothing has solidified on either of these recommendations, much less on a permanent tax increase — which is certain to be soundly rejected by legislators.

A FIVE PERCENT tax on used car sales, however, was finally taken out of the "Build Illinois" package. This leaves the funding mechanism totally open.

To state the obvious, "Build Illinois" must offset a funding proposal to insure the bond indebtedness.

On balance, the session appears to be taking longer to finalize negotiations on big statewide issues than past sessions.

I will concentrate on issues specific to our area and efforts to decrease state spending and increase its efficiency. As always, I invite comments and concerns.

Zoning board to hear mobile home request

The Madison County Zoning Board of Appeals will meet at 11:30 a.m. Tuesday, June 25, to conduct an on-site hearing regarding a special use permit for a mobile home.

Patricia Raynor, owner and occupant of the mobile home, wants the permit to place the home in an R-3 one-family residential district in Nameoki Township. The property is located on Route 162 near Joe's Tackle Box.

APARTMENT VANDALIZED

In a break-in at the apartment of Barbara Booker, 2511 Grand Ave., discovered June 7, various photographs were stolen, including two which were removed from wooden frames on a wall. Mayonnaise was smeared about and some type of liquid was poured on a bed.

DOC sets blind drawing dates

SPRINGFIELD — The Conservation Department will conduct drawings for waterfowl hunting blinds on state-managed hunting areas during June, July and August, according to Michael Witte, DOC Director.

"There are a limited number of blind sites available on state waterfowl areas," Witte explained. "Random drawings to allocate blind sites is the only fair way to distribute them among Illinois duck and goose hunters."

Dates, times, sites and procedures for the blind allocation process are as follows:

JUNE 23

* Horseshoe Lake, Madison County — registration from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m., with the drawing immediately following registration, at the Horseshoe Lake State Park headquarters near Granite City. Blind sites will be allocated for one year. Successful applicants may register their blinds through July 5.

* Mississippi River area, pools 25 and 26 — registration from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m., with the drawing immediately following registration, at the Rosedale Headquarters, 11 miles north of Grafton on Illinois Route 100. Blind sites will be allocated for two years. Successful applicants must register blind partners by presenting a 1985 hunting license and state waterfowl hunting stamp for each hunter. Hunting licenses and waterfowl stamps will be sold at the site during the registration and drawing.

JULY 21

* Mississippi River, pool 22, Pike and Adams counties — registration from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m., with the drawing set for 1 p.m., at Twin Oaks Club, north of Bangor Park at the west edge of Quincy. Blinds will be allocated for a two-year period.

* Mississippi River pool 24, Pike County — registration from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m., with the drawing immediately following registration, at the Two Rivers Marina, on the north side of U.S. Highway 54 at the Mississippi River Pike Station Access Area. Blinds to be allocated for two years.

JULY 27

* Kankakee River State Park, Kankakee County — registration from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. at the park office on Illinois Route 102, five miles northwest of Bourbonnais. Drawing immediately follows registration. Blind sites will be allocated for one year.

AUGUST 3

* Mississippi River pool 16 — registration from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m., with drawing immediately following registration, at Loud Thunder Forest Preserve, five miles west of Andalusia. Blind sites will be allocated for two years.

* Mississippi River pool 17 — registration from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m., with drawing immediately following registration, at New Boston City Park. Blind sites will be allocated for two years.

* Mississippi River pool 18 — registration from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m., with drawing following registration, at Delabar State Park, two miles north of Oquawka. Blind sites to be allocated for two years.

Hunters must be present at the drawing to claim blind sites, Witte said.

To be eligible to register for blind site drawings, applicants must be at least 16 years old by the date of the drawing. A 1984 or 1985 hunting license and state waterfowl stamp (unless the applicant is exempted by age or disability) must be presented at the time of registration.

Registrants also must have a current Firearm Owner's Identification (FOID) card from the Illinois Department of Law Enforcement. An FOID card that has expired no more than 12 months prior to the drawing is acceptable, but the hunter must have a current card before hunting the site in the fall, Witte said. Persons 16-21 years of age do not need an FOID card if they are accompanied by an adult who has one.

Craft and the St. Louis International people.

"WE FEEL like they've done all they can to help us get the thing off without a hitch. I've heard nothing negative," Stever said.

In addition to the normal amount of state troopers assigned to the area, Stever said the Illinois State Police have temporarily re-assigned 170 troopers to help with the influx of people that the Car Craft Nationals, the V-P Fair and the Cardinals' home series with Los Angeles will generate. In all, 250 Illinois state troopers will be in District 11 that weekend. District 11 covers a five-county area ranging from Madison County in the north and Bond and Clinton Counties in the east to St. Clair and Monroe Counties in the south.

"It'll be busy, and it definitely won't be a normal weekend, but things will work out," Stevers said. "We're making plans to be sure they do."

GC Center sports on the rise

By ALAN L. GERSTENECKER
Sports Editor of the Press-Record

In a sports column that I did in a recent issue, I talked about the sports renaissance, of sorts, going on at Granite City High School — the success of the basketball and softball teams and the promising future of the Warrior football program.

In fact, nearly every Warrior team is experiencing a marked degree of success.

But the Warriors aren't the only ones who seem to be headed in for the brighter future. The Granite City Center Stars appear to be aimed down the yellow brick road of prosperity as well.

For starters, the Stars basketball team has signed its share of the recruits recently. And, the latest ones are not just signees, but three come from very successful programs — the Waterloo-Gibault Hawks, the McKinley Goldbugs and the Vashon Wolverines.

The Goldbugs were Missouri state champions last year — during the 1984-85 season — and the Wolverines were champions the year before. And as for the Gibault Hawks, well, they were one of the best Class A teams in Southwestern Illinois.

On the other sports fronts, Larry Petri, GCC's 33-year-old coach has been signing, on the average, more than a player a week. And, many are not just the best of Missouri junior college recruits, but a handful are Illinois kickers as well.

The Stars' volleyball program, too, appears to be on the verge of a milestone. Clabbe Briggs, now in her third year as the Stars' coach, is confident that her squad has its first winning season during the 1985-86 campaign. The spikers have improved their season each of their first two years.

The 1985-86 year will also mark the return of girls basketball at GCC. The Stars recently announced the signing of Ted Daniels as the Stars' coach. Daniels, one of the most knowledgeable basketball coaches in the area, was named coach a couple of weeks ago.

There are some fine people heading up each sport at GCC, but the man behind the people is GCC athletic director Terry Collins.

"I think we're headed in the right direction," Collins said Wednesday. "I think in two years time, we've established a solid base for what can be a very successful college program."

Indeed.

But things weren't always that way. Last year, was a lean year for GCC sports.

In 1983, when the campus opened, there was a hiccup. Dr. Frank Gernick, then provost of the center, was a noted sports enthusiast. Behind Gernick, visions of sports grandeur popped in everyone's heads. And to further add to the excitement, Gernick hired Larry Graham as basketball coach and BOEM the Stars program was launched from nothing to a winning season its first year.

Then came last year, 1984.

Gernick accepts a position in California. Graham gets the coaching job at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville. Suddenly, both of GCC's spark plugs are gone.

Mrs. Connie Kelley offered the prayer at a salad luncheon. The program that followed featured members recalling fond and humorous memories of past years. Readings were given by Evelyn Hamilton and Mary Davis. Mrs. Thompson played a violin solo and led a sing-along, with Mina Duggins at the piano.

Guests were Helen Bergfield, Lotie Squires, Thelma Chapman, Ethel Beeler, Elsie Stagg, Lumeta Durbin, Peggy Gibbons, Sara Belle Berta, Pauline Mahon, Eupie Tarris, Hazel Pierson, Gladys Poilla and Edna DuFrain, plus Grace Gilbert Pape of Coffeen and the Rev. and Mrs. Ray Kelley of Mounds, Ill.

GCC gives resident second chance

For Edward Hoffman of Granite City, Granite City Center was a chance to start a new career in a field with opportunities for advancement.

Hoffman, 39, is in a training program at McDonnell Douglas. He is working with computers in the company's Aero Information Department.

After graduating from Granite City Senior High School in 1965, Hoffman started work at the American Optical Co. as a messenger boy. In the following 12 months, he worked in every phase of office work and became an apprentice optician in the firm's laboratory. He eventually became a journeyman optician, a job he held until the company went out of business in April 1980.

"I didn't like losing my job, but I was lucky," he said. "I found another job two days later."

He worked for Midland Optical Co. for the next two years, until the company lost its biggest account and he was out of work again.

"I knew I was in trouble then because the optical business was going downhill," he said. "I was looking for a job for five months, but everyone was talking minimum wage. I was skilled in one area and there just weren't any jobs."

At that point, Hoffman decided to search for another career.

He did not jump into anything, but he took his time deciding what field he wanted to enter.

"When you're my age, there are no second chances," he said.

He went to the library and studied job markets and employment forecasts, sometimes finding out what a particular field would be like all the way into the 21st century. In the end, he chose data processing.

"I did my homework and data processing looked like a job with a future," he said. "The books were saying data processing was about to take off and I wanted to be part of it."

In January of 1983, he started toward his associate of applied science degree in data processing by enrolling in courses at BAC's Granite City extension center, then at Washington School.

When BAC's Granite City Center opened in the fall of 1983, he was there.

While at GCC, Hoffman studied for his classes with the same determination he had shown when studying job markets. Data processing instructor Pat Stamps said because he had not been in school for many years, he had to work harder at his studies than some of the other students.

"It didn't really come easy for him, but he was a real hard worker," Stamps said. "He was always in the lab."

Hoffman said much of his success at GCC is because of his ability to organize.

"I've been like that since I was a child," he said. "I always try to put everything in its compartment."

When he graduated this May he had maintained a grade-point average of 3.67 (4.0 is an A), was an honor student, and was initiated into Phi Theta Kappa, the national honor fraternity at GCC.

At this point in his new career, he is not quite sure which direction he'll go. He credits his training at GCC with enabling him to have a choice.

"I feel I have a well-rounded education," he said. "I'm really not sure which direction I'm going in, but I have enough background to go in any direction. The curriculum at GCC covers every direction you'd want to go."

Hoffman and his wife Bonnie have four children.

Madison's jail may be closed

The Madison city jail could be closed as a result of inspections by the Illinois Department of Corrections, a spokesman said Tuesday.

Unsanitary and hazardous conditions in jail cells were alleged by the department in East St. Louis, Madison, Belleville, Alorton and Centerville. Nic Howell, a department spokesman, said the jails are below minimum state standards.

William Papa, Madison police chief, said the inspection was made five days before his appointment on May 7.

Chief Papa said Venice and Granite City police departments have agreed to hold Madison prisoners if the city is forced to close the jail. There would have to be extensive renovation to bring the facility into compliance, he added.

The May 2 inspection in Madison listed 10 violations. The previous inspection was in February 1984.

Coaches testify in pay bias case

Female coaches at Madison High School are paid less than male coaches, according to testimony Monday in the federal courtroom of U.S. District Judge William L. Beaty.

Carol Cole and Luvenia Long, coaches, said Supt. John Falchett told them they were paid less than male coaches in the district because they were women. Falchett told the Press-Record today, "My only comment at this time is there is no substance to quotes that were made."

The suit, filed in 1983 by the federal Equal Employment Opportunity Commission against the school district, claims the district is in violation of the Equal Pay Act of 1963 by paying lower salaries to the women than to men.

A high school girls track and tennis coach, Long said she asked why she was paid $100 less than the male tennis coach.

In 1984, the suit was amended to include Barbara Ann Wanda Graham, two female junior high coaches.

Long and Cole added allegations that the district was violating the 14th Amendment and Title VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964. They seek back pay that could amount to $10,000 each and Long and Cole are asking $10,000 each in actual damages and $20,000 each in punitive damages.

Cole said she was paid $965 for coaching basketball and a boys' basketball coach got $1,900.

Attorney Bruce Goldstein, who is representing Cole and Long, said salaries were equal based on seniority, the number of games played, number of students involved in a sport, attendance at games or length of season.

Ferje Wolf, BEOC attorney, said in opening statements that Cox was paid $75 for coaching two basketball teams that played 30 games each. Albert Collins was paid $1,105 for coaching one team that played 20 games and Terry Beer received $825 for coaching one team that played 14 games.

In testimony Monday, Cole and Long said they felt their jobs required an equal amount of skill, effort and responsibility as the jobs of the male coaches.

INDECENT EXPOSURE ALLEGED

Anthony R. Schellhardt, 17, of 2454 Cleveland Blvd. was arrested at his home June 10 for indecent exposure after he allegedly exposed himself to three young girls. He allegedly walked down an alley in the 3400 block of Benton Street, where three girls were playing in a swimming pool.

Jerry D. Crossno of 910½ Niedrighaus Ave. told police June 9 someone took a video cassette recorder and a color television set from his home.

New acting superintendent appointed to state lottery

Gov. James R. Thompson has appointed Jerald E. Havener as acting superintendent of the Illinois State Lottery.

Havener, 45, of Springfield has served as deputy superintendent of the lottery since November 1977. He replaced Michael E. Jones, who is leaving the lottery to enter private business in Chicago.

"Mike Jones guided the lottery to the enormously successful position it holds today as the fourth largest revenue source in the state. He has done an outstanding job in making the Illinois State Lottery a continuing success story and broadening its appeal. His enthusiasm and ingenuity will be missed," the governor said.

"Jerry Havener has been an integral part of the lottery for seven years, directing many of the administrative activities. He also has been involved in design, development and production on many of the lottery's games. I am confident he can lead the lottery through a smooth transition."

Prior to joining the lottery staff, Havener served briefly as professional services staff manager for the Department of Administrative Services. From January 1976 to July 1977, he was senior management consultant for the Department of Finance.

He developed and managed the Data Processing Department at ILlinois Central College in East Peoria during his tenure as computer center director from October 1968 to July 1973 and he was computer services assistant director at Illinois State University in Normal from June 1965 to October 1968.

The lottery was created July 30, 1974. Jones took over as superintendent in 1981, when the lottery brought in $372 million. In the first nine months of this year, the lottery has taken in a record-breaking $913,570,635 in gross revenue.

ITEMS TAKEN FROM CAR

Ronald Goforth, 34 Parktown Drive, told police June 9 someone ransacked his car, taking several items. Missing are a wallet, $20 cash, two charge cards, a bank card, his driver's license, a firearm owner identification card, hand tools and personal papers. The auto was parked in the 1300 block of Meridian Ave. at the time.

$285, CHECKBOOKS TAKEN

Ross Shelley of Belleville said someone took several items from his car while it was parked in the lot behind 916 Niedringhaus Ave. June 9. Taken were a briefcase valued at $50, checkbooks from three banks, $285 cash, two calculators and various business papers.

Anna in need of understanding foster parents

Anna is 11 years old and the oldest of four siblings. She assumed a great deal of responsibility for the younger children, including making sure one younger sister was dressed and ready for school. Anna's mother often acted irresponsibly and depended too much on Anna to act as "mother" for the younger children. Foster parents are being sought for Anna.

When the family situation deteriorated and all the children had to be placed in foster homes, Anna was separated from the younger children. She does not know how to be a child and often acts overbearing, tending to take charge in play with other children, authorities say.

One symptom of Anna's emotional stress over the separation from her family is bedwetting. Extensive physical examinations found no physical reason for the bedwetting. Anna makes progress and then an emotional upset will again trigger the problem.

Anna is in the sixth grade and is making straight A's. This 11-year-old is an attractive child and tries to keep herself neat and clean. She really likes music and she loves to sing along with popular songs on the radio.

The goal is to return Anna and the younger children to their mother. Efforts are underway to help her mother accept more responsibility. Anna's mother must also learn that she cannot place so much responsibility on Anna.

Anna needs foster parents who can help her learn to be a child. Although her tendency to take charge of other children can be annoying, foster parents must help her learn to play cooperatively with other children. Her bedwetting will probably continue until she feels safe and secure in a family, according to health experts.

Children like Anna are common in families where there is a problem of child neglect. Often, one of the older children will try to assume responsibilities that belong to the parent.

These children need the opportunity to behave like children without having to care for their sisters and brothers, it was asserted here this week by a spokesman for the Illinois Department of Children and Family Services.

Foster parents are urgently needed for children of all ages. Understanding foster parents are needed for children like Anna with emotional problems that often cause bedwetting, the spokesman added.

Foster parents receive a monthly board payment. Medical, dental and pharmaceutical costs are also paid by the state. Training is available for all prospective foster parents. For more information on Anna or other children with special problems, Jane Heathcote may be called at 876-8885.

WALLET, CARDS STOLEN

Vicki Taylor, 2881 Madison Ave., reported the theft of her wallet which was left in a purse at Todd Uniform Co., 2929 Emzest St., June 7. Cash, personal papers, two charge cards and a driver's license were among the items in the wallet.

GC native sets fire to diving

By SUSAN SIGNAIGO-WEICH

Staff writer

For Dave Lindsay of Granite City, taking a plunge in the pool is not a relaxing hobby.

When Lindsay takes the plunge, he gets fired up — literally. Lindsay, president of Acapulco Productions, Inc., has been performing a feat known as the "human flame fire dive" for the past seven years.

To accomplish the dive, Lindsay dons a special sweat suit, socks, gloves and a cape that has been soaked in high test motor fuel.

Lindsay then climbs to the top of a 30-foot platform and sets the cape on fire.

Despite the riskiness of the jump, Lindsay says he has never been seriously injured.

"I've gotten a few minor burns, but I've never really been hurt," Lindsay said.

The Granite City native estimates that he is on fire for a total of 15 to 20 seconds before he hits the water.

"You'd be amazed at how quickly the fire is extinguished once you're in the water," he said.

Lindsay, 28, learned the diving technique in Florida from what he now calls "one of my competitors." He said that, regardless of the weather, "we try to do every scheduled performance."

Although Lindsay is also known for the "human flame fire dive," another form of diving has been his forte.

In 1981 and 1982, Lindsay won the competition for the World Championship in High Diving. In 1982, Lindsay set the world's record for the high dive, jumping 170 feet. Since then, however, his record has been broken.

Lindsay still performs high dives as part of his show. The show also includes acrobatic and clown diving, as well as synchronized swimming. He has taken his show across the country and has performed in Europe and Jamaica as well.

Lindsay will be performing his fire dive again this Saturday, June 15, at the new Aquatic Center in Wood River, at the intersection of Edwardsville Road and Wood River Avenue.

The show will begin directly after a scheduled parade, at about 1 p.m.

After the Wood River performance, Lindsay will take his show to the Lake of the Ozarks this summer, where there will be performances in conjunction with a ski team.

Lindsay got his start in diving through the Paddlers' Swim Club in Granite City. He is a Granite City high school graduate.

FOR PET'S SAKE

REPLACING YOUR PET

We've all heard people who have recently lost their pets declare that they'll never get another. In the midst of their grief they can't face the prospect of going through that kind of heartache again. Either that or they feel that no callow young puppy or kitten can possibly replace the old friend they lost — that it would somehow be wrong to even try. Fortunately, most people get over these initial feelings. For the others, those who would deny themselves the friendship and comfort of another pet, here are some thoughts to consider.

Rather than "insulting" or "tarnishing" the memory of a lost pet by acquiring another, the act itself is the highest compliment. It says that your old friend brought so much pleasure and joy to your life that you cannot imagine living without another such companion. Also, the newcomer does not replace your former pet as much as he or she becomes a new friend, bringing new qualities, games, routines to your relationship.

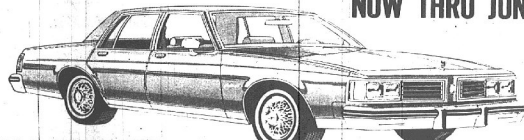

As for the prospect of suffering another loss, you must weigh that against all the love and joy you would otherwise miss.

HELPFUL HINT: Flea season is upon us. Don't wait until your pet is scratching madly. Start a routine of weekly inspection and appropriate treatment as recommended by your vet.

By KEITH JONES

Of The Journal Staff

CAHOKIA—The State of Illinois will immediately begin a feasibility study for the commercial expansion of Scott Air Force Base near Belleville, Gov. James Thompson announced here June 4. Also being studied is a four-lane highway from Carbondale to the Metro-east, he said.

Speaking to reporters and area officials at St. Louis Downtown-Town Square, Thompson said the airport and highway proposals are aimed at developing the economic resources of Southern Illinois.

The airport study, expected to cost $220,000, will examine the potential for expanding Scott AFB into a combined military-commercial facility with the potential to serve as a hub for cargo aviation operations. A $600,000 highway study will explore a potential industrial corridor along the new highway. Both studies are expected to be complete by March, 1986.

"It's a very ambitious project, a very costly project, but we believe the time has come to develop the resources of Southern Illinois," said Thompson. "I'm a very firm believer the time has come for economic development on the Illinois side of the (Mississippi) river."

Thompson said he believes Lambert-St. Louis International Airport in St. Louis needs to be supplemented by another facility in Metro-east, and expansion at Scott would complement the economies on both sides of the river. The airport study will examine the potential for developing runways and support facilities, ground access, environmental impacts and area development plans.

U.S. Rep. Ken Gray, D-22nd District, recently introduced legislation in the House of Representatives authorizing joint military-civilian use of Scott and changing the base's name to Mel Price Air Force Base and Airport, Illinois. Also speaking at the conference, Gray noted he has 60 co-sponsors for his bill and believes Scott has the potential to become the "transportation hub of the Midwest."

"The study will begin immediately and conclude next year in time to present to the General Assembly. We believe if the study is successful, the state could acquire 4,000 acres of nearby land for construction of new runways and airport facilities. We think this would be good for Missouri," said Thompson.

The governor said he had spoken with Missouri Governor James Ashcroft to assure him Illinois was not trying to begin another war over airports such as the Columbia-Waterloo proposal in the early 1970's, but Ashcroft and other Missouri officials remain wary of the plan.

"The study will also include passenger traffic. Not all Illinois passengers use Lambert field, and additional traffic could be drawn from the new corridor to Southern Illinois. We think it's not beyond the realm of possibility to have a fully developed airport and Scott," Thompson continued.

Thompson said studies indicate Lambert will reach its capacity soon and congestion there is already causing problems. The new facility at Scott could be operational by 1990, when the projected air service demand in the St. Louis area will exceed Lambert's capacity.

State health care plan to expand benefits, cut costs

Gov. James R. Thompson has announced that a new state employee health care plan will increase benefits while, at the same time, lowering state costs below the previous year's level for the first time in the history of the state health care program.

The plan, which will be available to state employees beginning July 1, will save nearly $24 million in all funds from projected state budget levels. It will include reduced hospital deductibles for participation in Preferred Provider Organizations (PPOs) and an expanded selection of Health Maintenance Organizations (HMOs) throughout the state.

"In times when significant health care cost increases have become the norm, I am pleased we have negotiated substantial benefit increases and reduced employee dependent costs. At the same time, the cost control measures introducing HMOs, PPOs and the Medical Services Advisor into the program have resulted in substantially lower costs from Blue Cross/Blue Shield for services, while expanding health care choices for our employees," the governor said.

"Last year, this administration introduced a law which was passed by the General Assembly, creating the Illinois Health Care Cost Containment Council to take steps to control medical costs. As an employer, the state is clearly meeting that goal."

Provisions of the new plan were negotiated with the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees (AFSCME).

"This is the first time in recent years that benefits have increased and health care costs have been brought under control. This agreement is an excellent example of how the collective bargaining process benefits state employees," said Steve Cullen, executive director of AFSCME.

In announcing the agreement, Richard H. McClure, director of the Department of Central Management Services, whose department negotiated and will implement the health care plan, indicated health care costs have increased by an average of 14 percent each year for the last four years.

"This is a historic day. The Thompson administration has expressed commitment to improving state employee health care benefits and controlling costs. This is an example of that commitment," said McClure.

The state's negotiated agreement with AFSCME includes:

— A freeze on the amount employees must contribute for coverage of dependents, as well as dependent membership in HMOs. The state contribution will increase from the current annual rate of $54 per employee to an annual average of $259 per employee, representing an avoided rate increase of $175.

— A $100 cash bonus and free home nurse visits for hospital discharge within 24 hours after delivery in maternity cases; a $50 bonus for discharge within 48 hours of delivery.

— Cooperation in promoting PPOs, resulting in decreased costs to employees when they select specific hospitals for procedures which are provided at a set rate, and the Medical Services Advisor program in HMOs, which results in decreased costs to the employee when a procedure is discussed in advance with a state medical advisor. An employee choosing a PPO will have no deductibles (a saving of $200) if he or she calls an MSA and chooses a preferred provider. These programs will be implemented Sept. 1.

— A joint labor/management committee on health care benefits to review the feasibility of providing additional benefits, such as dental coverage.

Negotiations have been completed for the majority of state employees. State universities and some other bargaining units are expected to complete negotiations soon.

Other improvements in the plan include:

— Stop Smoking Benefit — The state will pay up to $25 toward accepted stop-smoking clinics and programs which help individuals give up tobacco use.

— Expanded HMO Offerings — HMOs are to provide improved benefits such as doctor office visits, check-ups, and well-child care including inoculations and physicals. Under the expanded HMO plan, 37,000 employees now will have the opportunity to participate in an HMO.

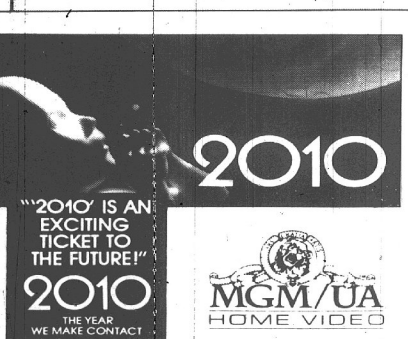

New HMOs will be available in Springfield, Cook County and its collar counties, Centralia and the Metro East area.

Hospital Admits — Provides for sharing of savings up to $1,000 when employees discover errors in hospital billings.

The state is currently completing negotiations with its carrier, Blue Cross/Blue Shield, and will be announcing implementation of the PPO and MSA programs by Sept. 1.

Pontoon officials consider census

By SUSANNE INDELICATO
Staff writer

Pontoon Beach Village Board of Trustees President Glen Wilson has asked the board to consider contracting for a census of the village.

During a meeting of the trustees Tuesday, Wilson said, "I think it's a good idea to have a census taken. I think we're way off on the number of people in the village. I want it to be thought about for a number of reasons."

Trustee Don Rea said the village's population could affect Federal Revenue Sharing receipts, which are based on per capita figures. But, he noted, revenue sharing may be phased out under the Reagan Administration's plan to reduce the federal deficit.

Wilson said the census may cost approximately $2,000. The last census of the village was taken by the U.S. Census Bureau five years ago.

In other action Tuesday, the village board approved issuing a business license to Audie Emly, who wants to operate a radiator repair shop at 4245 Highway 111. The property is zoned for industrial uses.

The board also approved a zoning variation for Gene Williams of 5 Tulip Ave. Williams wants to build a garage within three feet of his property line.

The trustees approved purchase of four emergency lights, at a cost of $75 each, for the village hall and ratified Wilson's appointment of Carl Horstmeier to the village zoning board of appeals. Horstmeier will serve a two-year term.

Finally, Village Clerk Mary Warren notified the trustees that an audit of the village for Fiscal Year 1984-85 was to begin Wednesday.

This is the plant that manufactures our sauce.

Other pizza makers will proudly tell you they manufacture their sauce to the highest standards. Note: They manufacture it in huge factories. In vast quantities, with enough preservatives to make it last a long time.

At Little Caesar's our sauce is all natural. The tomatoes, the spices, everything. The truth is, our sauce isn't made. It's grown. So naturally it tastes better. And we make it fresh every day.
